WALKER NAMED TO TAKE HELM IN WORK DRIVE

New York Lawyer Put In Charge of National Fund Spending

F. D. R. WILL HEAD ALLOTMENT BOARD

Richberg "Goes In Hiding"; Prepares For Test of NRA

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 24.—Frank Walker, New York lawyer, took charge today of a clearing house which plans for spending the $4,000,000,000 works fund begun to flow.

Walker, a close friend of President Roosevelt for years, was drafted yesterday by the president. He replaced Donald R. Richberg as executive director of the National Emergency council and immediately set up a special division in that organization to receive all work permit applications.

The new "division of applications and information" was charged by the president with taking the plans of federal officials, state and local agencies and preparing them for quick action by a works allotment board to be headed by Mr. Roosevelt himself.

Announcement of details regarding the allotment board, which will be the second cog fitted into the administration's machinery for using huge work relief fund, was proposed within a few days.

A statement issued by the White House late yesterday said that Walker was called back to the clearing house of the emergency council, which he previously held, in order that Richberg may devote his entire time to the NRA while congress is debating whether or not to continue that agency.

Richberg, who recently was named chairman of the board in charge of the recovery administration, explained he planned to "go into hiding" for ten days to prepare for a test of NRA's constitutionality before the supreme court. With Stanley Reed, solicitor general, he has been chosen to present the government's side of the case in arguments before the court.

Described As Clearing House The emergency council division set up under Walker to start the work relief roll is described in a White House announcement as a clearing house for "all suggestions of work relief funds." It was decided upon, the statement said, to provide for "the general convenience" of federal state and local officials and civic organizations.

Rivals on Bonus Issue Shake

Representative Patman Senator Harrison

Although Representative Wright Patman of Texas, left, and Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi are on opposite sides of the bonus issue they shook hands in friendly greeting when they met at the senate finance committee hearing at Washington on the question of paying the bonus. Harrison is author of a compromise bonus bill, backed by the administration, which would space out payment of the bonus. Patman's bill would provide for immediate payment in full.

SALEM PASTOR GIVEN OFFICE

Rev. R. D. Walter Named Vice Moderator At Presbytery Meet

Rev. R. D. Walter, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Salem, was named vice moderator of the Mahoning presbytery at the spring meeting of the organization yesterday in Westminster church, Youngstown. Dr. L. P. McCulloch, Genfield, was named moderator, succeeding Dr. J. W. Bean of Canton.

Zorbaugh of Columbus, executive secretary of the synod of Ohio, was a speaker, his topic being "Church Extension." He reported that $5,000 has been received from the offerings in the "wee cans," the amount received in that way in two years making a total of $13,000. It was the opinion of Dr. Zorbaugh that the church is emerging from the depression period commensurately, the spirit throughout the synod being one of increased hope for the usefulness of the church. A committee of 300 persons is being organized throughout the state to petition the Ohio legislature protesting proposed aid for parochial schools. Dr. Zorbaugh stated.

The General Assembly, comprising all the Presbyterian churches of the United States, will convene in Cincinnati on May 23 for a five-day session. Mount Auburn church will be host to the assembly, to be held in the Masonic temple.

Synod meeting will take place at Wooster college, June 17, with eight ministers and eight elders as delegates. F. W. McKee of the Salem church will be one of the eight elders.

Fire Razes Large Building Owned By J. C. Keister

NORTH GEORGETOWN, April 24.—Fire of undetermined origin at 10 p. m. Tuesday destroyed a large building here owned by J. C. Keister. The building was being remodeled from a barn into a house, and was still in the process of construction.

Firemen from the Salem and the Homestead departments answered the alarm, but the walls of the structure were collapsing when they arrived. Firemen then concentrated their efforts on saving the adjoining property of Earl Wang.

The intense heat of the fire cracked all the windows in the west side of the Wang home and set fire to the house in several places.

U.S. Maps Drive to Double Army Strength; Britain Calls Meet to Boost Empire Defense

31,700 Men, 18 to 25, To Be Enlisted As First U. S. Move; English Dominion Chiefs To Rally Within Few Weeks

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 24.—The army swung today into a drive to double its actual fighting strength. As the first move in the program—which congress has authorized in a bill appropriating $20,000,000 for the purpose—the war department announced that the enlistment of 31,700 men from 18 to 25 years will begin July 1.

Told of "War Clouds" The announcement came as the nation's legislators, told by a house leader that war clouds are "hanging over Europe," gave attention to two bills to spend $570,000,000 on other parts of the country's fighting machine—the navy and air bases.

The house planned further debate today on the larger of these two bills—the $460,000,000 appropriation for the navy for the next fiscal year. It is the largest regular supply bill for the navy in 15 years. Chairman Cary (D. Ky.) had said that preparedness for defense was necessary in view of World conditions. He said "war clouds" were hanging over Europe, with nations "building the greatest war machineries" ever.

Purely Defensive The house military committee, meanwhile, advised the house to set up a chain of strategic army air bases. The cost of new bases and of strengthening old ones was estimated at $110,000,000. The committee stressed they would be purely defensive.

The report said at least one station each should be maintained in the Atlantic northeast, Atlantic southeast, and Caribbean area, Pacific northwest, Alaska, and the Rocky mountain area.

He is survived by his wife, Nellie, two daughters, Mrs. Clara Ritchie of Salem, and Mrs. Hazel Emore, of Cleveland; two sons, Lester of Cleveland and Ernest of Salem; seven grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Katherine Bowman of Salem. Ickes-Long Feud Flares Anew

Secretary Ickes Senator Huey Long

Further sensational developments are anticipated in the feud which broke out between Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior, and Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana when Ickes shut down on grants of federal relief funds to Long's state. Long lambasted Ickes as "the chinch bug from Chicago" and threatened financial secession of Louisiana. He characterized Long as a "ranting demagogue."

RURAL SCHOOL BOARD NAMED

Butler, Knox, West, Hanover Districts Are Merged

LISBON, April 24.—A new school district composed of Butler, Knox, West and Hanover townships has been officially set up by the county board of education, this record being completed at a meeting of the county board held at the office of County Superintendent W. E. Roberts.

Members of the board of education for the new district will be R. R. Barber, Butler township; Edw. Wallace, Knox township; H. L. Geiselman, West township; W. K. Humphrey, Hanover township; Peter Berger, Knox township.

Names of these members were suggested to the county board of education by local township boards. Because Knox township has the highest tax duplicate, two members of the board are from that township.

C. W. Heim, West township, and John B. Sanor, Hanover township, are members of the county board of education.

The newly appointed board will meet probably at North Georgetown next Monday night to organize and elect a clerk.

Selection of the new board will eliminate four township boards of education.

Total of 758 Gallons Of Liquor Seized In 2 Months

Piazza and Davis were nabbed on East State at 2:45 a. m. today by Patrolman Nerr Gaunt and Jesse Peppel, new city patrolman. Gaunt recognized the license plate on Piazza's automobile.

A total of 758 gallons of the liquid has been poured over the ground and in each instance the liquor violators were turned over to federal agents who did the prosecuting.

Claims Fresh Air Is Best Cure Yet For Spring Fever

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, April 24.—If you observe symptoms of spring fever—for instance, a strong tendency to take the afternoon off—you may dismiss it with a yawn.

"There's nothing to it," said Dr. Morris Fishbein, discussing the old idea that "spring fever" has some foundation in physical fact. "Chiefly, it's just an alibi."

Is there anything to the time-honored theory that the blood gets too thick in winter, causing the common feeling of indolence when spring arrives?

"There's not the slightest evidence that is so," said Dr. Fishbein, editor of the American Medical association.

He offered prosaic explanation of why spring fever patients suffer a strong impulse to yawn or sleep.

"Probably they forget to open the windows," said Dr. Fishbein. "Then, too, warm sunlight, like any warmth, induces relaxation."

As an inexpensive cure, he recommended fresh air.

The best there is to say about such favorite remedies as sulphur-and-molasses, said Dr. Fishbein, is that they were "not particularly harmful." The best spring tonic he called "a brisk walk before breakfast."

Work Continues At New Courthouse

LISBON, April 24.—Floor covering will be placed in probate court room in the courthouse annex this week, and it is likely that the court will be able to occupy its new quarters within the next three weeks.

Let's Try U. S.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 24.—Here is the latest racket, if you are so rich you don't know what to do with your money. Americans are putting it in annuities in England, they feel it's safer there.

Then they wonder how it is that England recovers. It recovers because you couldn't in a hundred years get an Englishman to do what these folks are doing.

England will bet you on England, to their last penny. In England they invest most of their money in income tax. Read what their rate is. With this money invested over there it's not hard to see where all the influence comes from to get us to keep joining something over there.

The Cold Finger Curse

by EDWIN DIAL TORGERSON

SYNOPSIS
Healthy Violet Elderbank, a newcomer to Greenwich Village, gives a house-warming party to her neighbors, June and Jimmy Kirkland, and their mother, St. Gregory Valcour, a noted artist; dignified Doug W. Coulter, a statistical expert and Glenn Thurber, a newspaper reporter. Roger, a specially dancer, and Arjorie Clacken, Glenn's fiancée, are also guests. Mrs. Merriam's husband, Charles, a young man, lives in the city. Long ago he gave up his job to keep pace with his wife. Unknown to Violet, a handsome companion and a secretary, Price Merriam, is in the employ of her husband. Because of his wife's penchant for wearing a fortune teller's jewelry, Elderbank hired Merriam as her bodyguard and arranged for Violet to meet him. At the party Merriam has a premonition of danger. She is suspicious of Roger, the surly butler, whom she saw talking to a man in a doorway across the street. Roger is to do a Zulu dance. In preparation for it, the house lights are extinguished. Merriam floods the room with an eerie green spotlight and goes outside to see if Roger is ready. Drums begin to boom. Then Cupples informs Violet that she is wanted on the telephone in her bedroom. Glenn has disappeared. Violet told Jimmy Kirkman he had to go next door for a minute. Merriam returns and the dance starts. Suddenly a blood-curdling shriek rends the air. Rushing outside, they find the maid, shuddering with fear. "It's Miss Violet!" she cries. She's dead! Violet had been gagged, chloroformed, and her jewels—worth over a hundred thousand dollars—stolen. The victim's clothes closet had also been rifled.

"The fingers are greasy, do you notice that?" demanded Darden.

CHAPTER IX
Detective Samuels came back to the negro maid, Elsie Sever, a plump girl with scared cow-eyes, who seemed to have recovered from the shock which had come to her first wild emotional burst. Her voluble distress had succeeded now by a frightened calm—she seemed scared, but speechless. She shielded her eyes with her hand, held in position of a horse's blinker, to hide the depressing spectacle on her face.
"What's the matter with you?" demanded Darden sharply.
"I just can't look at her," sobbed Elsie. "I just can't, that's all."
"Where were you when this woman was murdered?" asked Darden harshly.
Elsie's trembling response was audibly audible. "I was downstairs—downstairs, you 'guess'?"
"Where?"
"In the kitchen, I 'guess' sir. I was helping to fix drinks—"
"In the kitchen you 'guess'?" Why the 'guessing? Why don't you know where you were?"
"I don't know, sir."
"Did you answer this telephone call?"
"No, sir. I 'guess' it was Cupples' answer."
"The butler?"
"Yes, sir. I 'guess' it was. I was about to 'guess' she was about to 'guess' the conjecture, Darden approached her threateningly, his chin thrust out.
"Did you hear this telephone call?"
"Why, y-yes, sir."
"Why didn't you answer it?"
"I was busy downstairs."
"In the kitchen?"
"Y-yes, sir."
"Wasn't it your business to answer a telephone call in your bedroom?"
"Why, yes, sir, but—"
"But what?"
"I didn't hear it."
"You're a liar. You just said you heard it."
"I mean Cupples must've heard it first."
"Was the butler in the habit of answering telephone calls in this room?"
"No, sir."
"And you stayed downstairs in the kitchen mixing drinks and let her answer it, because you were so busy?"
"I wasn't sure it was our phone, mister."
"Didn't Cupples tell you the telephone was ringing?"
Elsie's jaw dropped. "N-no, sir. Did he say he did?"
"Never mind what he said," Darden grasped the maid's wrist and tugged her by no means gently toward the open door of the closet.
"What's gone out of here?" he demanded.
"Oh, lawd," moaned the girl. "They got most all Miss Violet's pretty clothes, too!"
"How much did they get?"
"Merrey, they done took a lot of her pretty evenin' dresses. And a suit-case."
"A suit-case?"
"Yes, sir. Miss Violet's overnight bag, she called it. It was on the floor in the back there, with that hat box and the other suit-case."
"They didn't take this wrap?"
"What is it?"
"It's a evenin' wrap. You mean what kind of fur?"
"Yes."
"It's ermine, sir. Miss Violet—"
Elsie began to weep—"Miss Violet use to say it cost thousands and thousands of dollars. She jus' got it out of storage this week."
"The most expensive thing in the closet, eh?"
"Y-yes, sir."
"And they didn't take it?"
"N-no, sir," seems like they didn't."
"Do you want me to tell you why they didn't take it?" shouted Darden suddenly.
Elsie was mute.
"Because the damned thieves that killed this woman knew they couldn't use it, couldn't dispose of it. Every separate fur in that wrap is numbered and registered."
"Y-yes, sir. Is it?"
"You ought to know," said Darden with bitter scorn. "Get downstairs to that kitchen and stay there until I call for you again. Don't try to leave this house."
"N-no, sir. M-mister, you don't think I—"

"That might have happened in the scuffle."
"And the telephone receiver is off the hook."
"She might have answered the phone and told 'em to wait a minute—but we'll know more about that later. I want you to show me the lay of the land around here. Mr. Merriam. We've got to find out how they got in and how they got out."
Merriam seemed startled by an idea.
"The roof," he exclaimed. "We never thought of the roof. They may have got out that way. They may be up there now, hiding!"

"There are three men," said Darden sardonically, "already on the roof. But we'll go up and take a look."
A brusque individual of professional mien appeared in the doorway, satchel in hand. It was Doctor Haight, Assistant Medical Examiner.
"Oh, hello, Doc," said Darden. "Here's your trouble. There has already been one examination—a Doctor Furlow who was among the guests tonight."
"Yes, I saw him downstairs," replied Doctor Haight curtly. "How did he get in on this? No wonder there's somebody dead!"

OHIO NEEDS MORE CONCRETE ROADS

CONCRETE . . . costs less

THE cost of concrete pavement is less than that of any other of equal load-carrying capacity!
Strong, rigid concrete pavement distributes the load over the subgrade as no other pavement of comparable cost can do. As a result—concrete withstands the punishment of a rapid succession of big buses and high speed trucks and trailers through summer heat and winter cold. Concrete can take it! As Henry Ford has said—the modern concrete highway is "unbeatable."
On great super-highways, as on 2-lane pavements—the first cost of concrete is less than that of any other pavement of equal load-carrying capacity—and of course up-keep is less—and driving costs are less and comfort and visibility and safety are greater.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of pills, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your tired and out of bed in the morning is that your liver and bowels are clogged. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, acid taste in your mouth. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful harmonious, gentle vegetable extracts, among which is senna. This senna is the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for CARTER'S Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of substitutes. Get at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

SPORTS Chatter

Stars Today

OLD-TIMERS who continue to bleed of the incomparable athletes of the past times would do well to look about them at some of the super-stars who are making sport history today.

The fight game is supposed to be at its lowest ebb just now, and yet if we look over the list of ring champions, we find that some at least will bear comparison with the past's best. Happy Max Baer, big boss of big boys, may be a clown and all that, but not even Dempsey outlasted his field as much as the daffy Romeo of Hollywood. Baer is one of the toughest men ever to hold the title—he has never been put on the floor—and he can throw a mean wallop when in the mood. Dempsey in his prime would have been no top-heavy favorite over a guy like that.

Barney Ross may be no Benny Leonard, but he will do anything to win. He is a real contender. He has a real ring of all time. Freddy Miller is as good a featherweight as we've seen in the past decade or so. Baseball presents in Jerome "Dixie" Dean the most colorful character since Ruth's heyday, and a moundsman who is likely to roll up as imposing a record as Matty or Johnson.

Glenn Cunningham, Ben Eastman, Jack Torrance and the rest of the track record-breakers certainly rate with the sport heroes of all time.

Alfred Letourner, present king of six-day bike riders, has chalked up a record unequalled by Kramer or any of the other bike heroes of yore. The flying Frenchman won seven straight six-day grinds, and besides this astonishing feat, holds the motor-paced bike championship at the present time.

Yes, we have a few champions today who can measure up to the legendary figures in sportdom's hall of fame.

Johnny Springer, little son of Principal Wilbur J. Springer of Salem High school, seems destined to become an athlete.

At the age of seven he bounces a light-weight basketball in an improvised hoop in the basement of his home, tries a few track events on a small scale and follows his dad to practically all of the local scholastic sport events.

Roosevelt, Jr.

IF A FEW of his sophomore classmates can duplicate the amazing rowing progress made by Franklin Delano Roosevelt Jr., Harvard will have one of the greatest variety events it ever boasted. Coach Charlie Whitelaw tried him out on several slides and young Roosevelt's form and drive were so impressive that he was signed to the No. 6 oar, right in the "powerhouse," and the veteran Jim Gardner was demoted.

RANDOM NOTES: Nanjo Singh of India, big fellow of the wrestling business, grapples Dusty McDonald, the canny Scot, in the feature attraction of the Youngstown Central auditorium Thursday night. Oscar Ray Grimes, Jr., of Alabama, son of the former first baseman of the Chicago Cubs, has joined the Zanesville Grays of the Mid-Atlantic league.

Salem High Cindermen Capture Triangular Track Meet Here Tuesday

Quakers Look Good As They Turn Back Boardman and Lisbon

Salem Half-Mile Relay Team Comes Within One-Tenth Second of Tying County Record; Wesleyan Relays Saturday

Salem High cindermen, coached by Fred Cope, ran away with honors by a large margin in the triangular practice meet with Lisbon and Boardman Tuesday afternoon at Reilly stadium.

All of the Quaker track and field men showed improvement over the Mansfield events last Saturday, and the local half mile relay team, composed of Conrad, Tibbs, Rich and McConor, came within one-tenth of a second of tying the county record.

Salem scored 7 1/2 points to top the meet while Boardman was second with 49. Lisbon High thin-clads got 29 1/2 points. Eakin, all-around Quaker athlete, missed 12 feet in the pole vault by a hair. At Mansfield Eakin went 10 feet, 9 inches.

The practice season yesterday gave Cope a more determined outlook on his boys in view of the Ohio Wesleyan relays this Saturday. Around 16 Quaker runners are expected to make the trip.

In the Wesleyan relays, managed by George Gauthier, Wesleyan athletic director, every event is a team affair with three boys comprising a team, that is, for the six field matches. Four boys compose a relay team.

Walsh Is First Hurt In Minors

CHICAGO, April 24.—Bob Walsh, son of big Ed Walsh of White Sox pitching fame, is the first important casualty of the 1935 American Association pennant race.

Big Ed's boy was turning in a great mound job yesterday for Indianapolis against Columbus, allowing only one hit in four innings, when Epps, Columbus outfielder, spiked and badly lacerated his right hand. Walsh will be out of the game for at least a month.

The Indians came from behind, however, to score five runs in the eighth and ninth innings to make their home town debut a success with a 7 to 6 victory over the Red Birds. Sharp, 16-year-old Indian rookie pitcher was credited with the game, played before 7,000 fans.

A crowd of 6,017 fans watched Louisville kick away its home season opener, 5 to 4, to Toledo. The Colts made four costly errors along the infield.

Rain forced postponement of the other two games, sending the pennant race into a four-team tie between Columbus, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Indianapolis.

City Softball Confab Called

Rules, Schedule Will Be Drafted At Meeting Thursday

A second meeting of the city softball league managers and officials has been called for 7:30 Thursday night in the Memorial building, a session at which a schedule for the season will be drawn up.

Team entries for the league will be acted upon at that time. At an initial meeting last week proposed rules were discussed but no action was taken. Joe Teene was named president of the board of arbitration at that time.

Members of the United Cigars, entered in the softball league again this year, will report at 8 p. m. today at Scott Chisholm's store on East State st.

A meeting of church league representatives will be held Friday night, Joe Kelley announced today.

SICK AND HURT, RUTH FAILS AT POLO GROUNDS

Bambino Disappoints Homecoming Crowd In New York City

By EDWARD J. NEHL, Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 24.—The ancient Babe Ruth rode the bases in the Polo grounds again, with 50,000 cheering his return to the once green pastures of the Polo grounds—but somebody else was hitting the home runs.

The return of Ruth as a member of the Boston Braves, planned as one of the baseball dramas of the day, was pretty much of an artistic bust, to put it mildly.

"Night At the Ritz" Brings Gargan And Ellis To State Theater Screen

Thursday night only William Gargan and Patricia Ellis appear in "A Night At The Ritz," at the State theater. Gargan is a high powered publicity man and Miss Ellis is the girl he really loves, although he has some difficulty in escaping the clutches of the gold digger, a part played by Dorothy Tree. Gargan as a press agent for a hotel is fined because one of his friends runs up a bill on him and otherwise interferes with his work. Working on his own as a press agent he sells a chef to a fashionable hotel, only to find out that the man can not cook at all. How he gets out of this mess and wins the girl makes a very clever comedy.

Jenkins Provides Humor

Allen Jenkins causes a great deal of laughter with his antics as a chauffeur and his slavish devotion to Gargan. Patricia Ellis is pretty and sweet as the girl in the mask store with whom the press agent really falls in love.

Others in the cast are Berton Churchill, Dorothy Tree and Gordon Westcott.

The double feature bill concludes tonight. "Dog of Flanders" is a colorful tale of a boy of Flanders.
